Dear All

What a stonker of a weekend, a great time was had by all at the NEC Classic car show last month, even better than expected turnout, with a very lively stream of individuals and enthusiasts alike all trying to get a look in on the club stand. With Chris showing off his left hander now known as 'Backy' with all of Chris Nicholson's realistic time travelling enhancements and the new LOUD performance exhaust system fitted, you could hardly miss it as Chris turned the engine over (oh no not again!) for all to hear. It certainly gave the other club stands something to talk about.

Record breaking sales of DeLorean and club regalia reached an all time high over the weekend with the baseball caps selling out in the first few hours and even a second batch of Sunstar models had to be brought in to the show on the Sunday.

A big thanks to everyone who bought something from the stand, as this gives us a chance to try different items and extend the clubs already quite modest regalia selection thanks to Mary and Mike Hooper.

I was very impressed by the futuristic reproduction barcode number plates that were on sale they were a dead match for the one featured in the film, more on these in February's mag.

Thanks to everyone who helped out with putting up and knocking down the stand, Martin Gutkowski, Rich Johnstone, Dave Woodyard & Claire Usher, Mark Bourne and Dave Howarth of course for creating such a wonderful display stand.

I'm sure everyone who visited the NEC over the weekend was tired out, this years show was one of the best displays of classic cars covering three exhibition halls, even Chris Parnham admitted to being tired when he got home on the Saturday night.

If you are plugged into the Club's egroup then you will be aware that the Club has secured a small supply of the new 'Gold' Sunstar DeLorean models, priced at £23.00 + £5.00 p+p, contact Chris Parnham for availability.

As if I need to mention the release of the BTTF (back to the future) trilogy on DvD which includes the making of, behind the scenes, out takes, deleted scenes and much, much more. Prices start from £25.99 inc. Free delivery from www.play.com, there's also a chance to win a DeLorean by answering a simple question, well worth a look.

All that's left for me to say is that I hope everyone has a Very Merry Christmas and De' Lightful New Year.

Andy.
